

Notari Associates is Expanding

Nationally recognized architectural design firm adds four new team members

Baltimore, June 23, 2011 — Baltimore-based Notari Associates, a full-service architectural firm specializing in building design, planning, interior design and program management has recently added four new staff members to their team.

Recently joining Notari Associates is Registered Architect, Stephen Sunderlin, who has more than 30 years of experience in the field of architecture. He has an impressive track record as a Project Architect and Project Manager with a wide variety of experience, including secondary education, senior housing, laboratories, financial institutions and corporate offices. Steve has a Bachelor of Architecture from the University of Cincinnati, is a member of the AIA and became a Green Associate in 2009. Prior to joining Notari, Steve worked at CSD Architects in Baltimore. He is currently managing the construction administration for the adaptive re-use of an existing building into corporate offices for a Baltimore firm, which will be certified LEED Silver.

Interior Designer Meredith Blackney has more than 12 years of experience in in both commercial and residential markets. In addition to her solid leadership skills and her ability to guide teams of designers and draftsmen to accomplish projects on demanding deadlines, Meredith shows expertise in creating pleasing, yet functional environments for a wide range of corporate clients. Prior to joining Notari, she was an interior designer at Mitchell Associates in Wilmington, Delaware and Blackney Hayes Architects in Philadelphia. Meredith holds a B.S. in Interior Design with a minor in Marketing from Appalachian State University.

Beth Traglia, an architectural designer, received her Masters of Architecture Degree from the Boston Architectural College in 2009 where she graduated with honors, receiving a thesis commends award. Beth has more than five years of experience that includes healthcare, science and technology, and higher education design. Prior to joining Notari, she was an architectural designer at The S/L/A/M Collaborative in Boston, Ma. She has actively participated in all phases of design from initial client meetings through schematic design to construction documents and construction administration. Beth is an associate member of AIA.

Jason Dunkerton has re-joined Notari as an architectural designer. He originally started with Notari as a CAD technician in 2003. During his time away, he worked on high-end residential projects throughout Montana. He re-joined the firm in September and now specializes in commercial and healthcare projects. Jason is currently participating in the National Council of Architectural Registration Boards Intern Development Program.

“We are thrilled to bring such talented individuals on board to join our firm,” stated Pete Notari, AIA, CFM, president of Notari Associates since 1986. “Steve, Meredith, Beth and Jason all bring an ideal mix of skills, and we look forward to an exciting year of continued growth with our newly expanded team.”
